across Massachusetts are still pondering is where Congressional Majority Leader John W. McCormack will throw his support after the first ballot at the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

McCormack has shown no indication whatever of joining in the swing to Adlai Stevenson. On the contrary, a definite feeling exists that he will stand solidly with the forces trying to stop Stevenson in the early phases of the conclave.

The congressional majority leader, second ranking Democrat in the national House of Representatives, will himself be a favorite-son candidate on the first ballot and probably will get all 40 Massachusetts votes.

On the second ballot, however, Senator John F. Kennedy and ex-Governor Paul A. Dever will shift as many votes as they can to Stevenson. The likelihood is that they will be able to influence a majority of the delegates to follow their leadership. They undoubtedly will take advantage of Adlai's role as front-runner to argue that those who want to be with the winner had better climb on the Stevenson bandwagon while there are still empty seats remaining on it.

Political Overtones

A fairly sizeable number of delegates, however, will stand with McCormack and brush off attempts to stampede them into Stevenson's camp. Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes is almost certain to line up with McCormack and to move in whatever direction the South Boston Congressman

Ex-Boston School Committeeman Michael J. Ward of Allston has declared that he'll vote for McCormack as a favorite son candidate for President as long as McCormack votes for himself and that then he'll vote for any candidate of Mc-

Cormack's choosing—except Stevenson.

Former Democratic State Committee Chairman William H. Burke, Jr., of Hatfield, Democratic State Committeewoman Ida R. Lyons of Quincy and a number of others also will stay with McCormack, regardless of what pressures are brought on them from other quarters.

The Bay State delegates, who will help to settle the fight for the Democratic Presidential nomination, were selected while Burke was heading the State Committee, but for the most part they were picked by Dever, Kennedy and McCormack.

It would be a reasonable guess that about one-third would be responsive to McCormack, while Dever and Kennedy each should be able to influence a like Feuds which were statred during the Presidential primary and in the fight over the Democratic State Committee chairmanship are still smouldering in the Democratic party, and the contingent which travels to Chicago from Massachusetts will not exactly be one beauty beauty the proposed family.

McCormack has not revealed which of the Presidential contenders he favors, but in Washington it is believed that Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is his choice. In fact, there have been rumors in the Capiol that Symington might choose McCormack as his running mate, if he

The fight for delegates within the Massachusetts contingent is going to be a very interesting one when it begins. Mc-Cormack may show greater strength than is generally suspected.

Senator John F. Kennedy is still very much in the running for the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination, particularly if Stevenson is the victor at the Chicago convention. Lately, however, some agita-tion has developed for the selection of a Southerner for second place on the Democratic ticket.

Pennsylvania's Governor George M. Leader, who will control the great bulk of his State's 64 convention votes, publicly voiced that line of thinking a few days ago.

"I have great respect for Senator
Kennedy, but I still believe the Vice Presidency should go to the South," said Governor Leader, "It will make a well balanced ticket."

As Vice Presidential possibilities, Leader named Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, Stevenson's running mate four years ago; Senators Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore and Governor Frank G. Cle-ment of Tennessee and Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

-rom the standpoint of practical politics, it would seem that Stevenson would be more likely to pick his running mate from either the East or the farm belt than from the South. Sparkman certainly fell far short of being any ball of fire in 1952.

Herter's Son Possible Senate Candidate . .

Ex-Representative Christian A. Her-ter, Jr., of Newton, son of the Governor, is regarded in some quarters as the upand-coming young Republican on whom the GOP may pin its hopes of winning back the U. S. Senate seat held by John F. Kennedy in 1958.

A highly able young man and an excellent campaigner, the Governor's son was waited upon in 1950 by a group of Republicans who asked him if he would be willing to stand as a candidate for the

be willing to stand as a candidate for the Governorship.

The younger Herter gave serious thought to the proposition but finally decided against it. Two years later his father came back from Washington to raise the fallen fortunes of the GOP in Massachusetts. From the Republican standpoint, UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., will have the first refusal of the Senate nomination and the right to a return fight with Kennedy, if he desires it.

Some uncertainty exists as to whether Lodge is interested in running again for elective office. That is a question that will not be answered for another two Place At Candlelight Ceremony years. If ex-Representative Herter wins election to the Governor's Council, as it is believed he will, it is conceivable that he may be called upon to step up onto the State ticket and carry his party's banner against Kennedy, should Lodge decide to remain on the sideline.

Whether Adlai Stevenson's witty quips help or hurt him has been a matter of dispute for a long time among political experts who also have debated on whether his humor originated with him or his ghost writers.

Adlai himself may have provided the answer to the latter question when he at-tended a recent Democratic picnic at Bedford Village, N. Y., and regaled his listeners with his comments. Here are a few

Asked by a well-meaning official in charge of the picnic whether he wanted a parasol to protect him against the sun

(which was beating down on his bald spot), Adlai replied: "No, just some hair." When a baby was placed in his arms, Stevenson kissed the youngster and then at the request of photographers repeated the performance twice. "I hope it doesn't the performance twice. "I hope it doesn't permanently damage her," he remarked. "I wish I were going back to Chicago to a picnic, but I'm not," declared Stevenson at one point, referring to the fight he will face at the Democratic national convention in the Windy City.

When a young girl showed her pedigreed spanied with an "Adlai" ribboned around its neck Stevenson quipped: "Is around its neck, Stevenson quipped: "Is he registered?" "He's a she," answered the youngster.

Told that a postcard poll conducted by the Democratic Club of North Castle, N. Y., showed him an 8-1 favorite over Governor Harriman and a 9-1 favorite over Senator Kefauver, Stevenson replied: 'North Castle must be a town occupied by a people of exceptional discrimination, especially among Democrats."

Photographers, seeking trick pictures, asked a five-year-old youngster with a cone of spun sugar to give Adlai a bite. "I'm willing to do anything within rea-son," declared Adlai, "but I can't eat that stuff." He finally downed three bites for the cameramann with the air of a small child swallowing you-know-what. We still think some of Adlai's better quips are ghost written.

Hailer's Campaign Off to Good Start . .

Former City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., of West Roxbury, who is bidding for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Curtis district, put on a solid demonstration of political strength last week, when 156 persons attended a campaign meeting he held on a warm evening at the Parker House.

Three other meetings were held in the same hotel on the same evening, one of them arranged by Attorney Joseph J. Mulhern to launch a drive for the registration of Democratic voters in the Boston area. More people attended Hailer's meeting than the other three combined.

The contest between Hailer and for-mer Assistant U. S. Attorney Jackson J. Holtz for the Democratic nomination for Congress shapes up as a lively one. Both sense an opportunity to capture the seat held by Congressman Laurence Curtis, and both are working at top speed.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

San Vittore Prison in Milan, Italy, had its first escape in 11 years recently, when Convict Francesco Boschi put on a pair of stolen sunglasses, a grey flannel suit, disguised himself with a beard made from shaving brush bristles, joined a party of visiting attorneys and walked out past visiting guards.

A University of Michigan professor, after some research on the subject, reports that a mouse believes that your home is his castle. He declares that a mouse will stake a claim on a small section of your home and defend it against other mice. The information that researchers come up with in this atomic age is wonderful.

Millard-Green Marriage Takes

There were white Fuji chry John's Church in Newtonville bridegroom's mother, wore a santhemums on the altar of St. for the wedding of Miss Joanne Millard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Millard of Newton.

The 4 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wilbar J. Kingwill and a reception followed in the gar-den at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Green of Newtonville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long-sleeved gown of imported ivory Chantilly lace over silk taffeta, fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline edged with delicate clusters of pearls and sequins. The bouffant taffeta skirt had a peplum effect overskirt of lace with a scalloped edge which cascaded over the chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a cap of matching lace fashioned to a silk illusion fingertip veil. She carried two baby white orchids on a white prayer book.

Her sister, Mrs. Dean F. Bock of Ithaca, N. Y., was the matron of honor. Her pleated ballerina gown of French blue nylon or gandy was contrasted by a sash of royal blue. Her head-piece was a light blue cap of matching fabric with a nylon tulle trim. She carried an oldashioned bouquet of pink and white sweetheart roses and pachelor buttons.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Raymond W. Thibault of Ar-lington and Miss Nancy Kniffin of Wenham. Their gowns and headpleces were like those of the matron of honor, but they carried old-fashioned bouquets of yellow and white sweetheart coses and bachelor buttons.

Mrs. Green, the bride's moth-

This provides an excellent illustration of how little effect our representatives have at the State House; when they really exert themselves they are thrown a crust from the banquet table and then come home to boast. Decision May Establish A Precedent for Older Homes

The Newton Board of Assessors have been notified that the Appellate Tax Board has rendered a decision favorable to the City. The decision means in effect that the assessed valuation of the property involved is assessed at its respective "full and fair cash value" as required by State law as interpreted by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

Asked to comment on the deeision, the Board of Assessors issued the following statement:

was called unnecessary by at-torneys and court officials.

The property is located in Waban, and is a French provincial type dwelling built dur-ing the 1920's. A well-landscaped plot of land completes the property which is located on one of Waban's many attractive residential streets.

The owner objected to the assessment because the property was assessed more than what he actually paid for it before World War II. His plea was based primarily on the fact that he had done nothing in the way of improvements to his home which would justify the increase in assessed value which the Assessors had placed ing prices of the real estate market since his purchase that he did not wish to sell, but wished to continue his family's occupancy. Therefore, he wa not interested in any fluctuation of the real estate market. The Board of Assessors con tended that recognition must be given to the factor of in creased selling prices of older type houses, as well as to new

The agreement of the Appel late Tax Board with this program should be of particular interest to Newton citizens as well as to the Assessors The hearing was heard by Real Contest Among Democrats for District Attorney: Edward J. McCormack, Jr., to Challenge Ward in Primary; Garrett Byrne Apparently Will Not Run For Governor.

So much noise and clamor have been caused by the 11 contenders battling for the Democratic nomination for District Attorney of Middlesex County that few people realize that District Attorney Ephraim Martin is to be the Republican candidate for the office. It is safe to say that no Democratic primary contest in Middlesex history has created as much excitement and aroused as much interest as the contest now being waged. Some observers consider that Attorney Edward A. Counihan, 3rd, of Cambridge, son of the Supreme Court justice, is leading in the race, but the picture is so confused at this point that no analysis could be made with Uncertainty exists, in fact, as to whether all 11 office-seekers will still be in the field when the deadline for withdrawals arrives early next month and the lists are finally closed. Counihan is handicapped by the fact that three other Cambridge candidates are cutting up the University City vote with him, and, if he wins the nomination, he will have to do it outside his home community. But all the other contenders are campaigning under one handicap or another, and Counihan appears to have the biggest

For the purpose of keeping proper records, every employer subject to this tax is assigned a nine-digit identification num-ber by the District Director of Internal Revenue. The employer is charged with the responsibility for correct reporting om employees. It is not sufficient that he pay the required tax on his employee(s) but that he cor-rectly identify the employee by name and correct Social Security account number.

Mr. Thompson says that it is an open secret in some trades or occupations that deliberate efforts are made to avoid report ing of wages for Social Security and other purposes. Usually the arrangement calls for the payment of full wage to the employee on pay day with no de-ductions by the employer. Sometimes this choice is by the employer, frequently it is suggested by the worke and often, too often, a mutual arrangement between each. This is a dangerous practice. One which certainly challenges the integrity of the employer who would leliberately circumvent his legal obliga-

Political Overtones

The other Cambridge aspirants are Representative John F. Cremens, Assistant Attorney General Andrew T. Trodden and John F. Tobin, who is president of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers' Asso-

Joseph V. Carroll and Irving Stackpole are splitting the Somerville vote. They were the opponents for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General two years ago, with Carroll winning by a handful of votes.

Representative John F. Zamparelli and City Councillor John C. Carr, Jr., son of the former Democratic State Committee chairman, are battling for the Medford vote and will divide up that city's returns.

The Lowell vote is being cut up by Representative James E. O'Dea, Jr., Democratic whip in the House, and John F.

Vincent Burns of Arlington, strangely, is the only candidate who has his home community to himself, but Arlington's Democratic vote in a primary would not match that of Cambridge or Somerville or even Lowell.

The contest will become an extremely interesting one as the summer goes on.

Lines Drawn for Atorney General Fight
Now that Boston City Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr., nephew of Congressional Majority Leader John W. McCormack, has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, the lines are being drawn for an extremely interesting primary conflict.

It is expected that Executive Councillor Endicott (Chub) Peabody of Cambridge will also step into the fight for the right to oppose Attorney General George Fingold next November, although time now is beginning to run out on him.

Even if Peabody makes another office his political target, however, the race between McCormack and Representative Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg should provide plenty of excitement.

Ward has the advantage of carrying the endorsement of last month's pre-primary Democratic State convention in Worcester. That not only will guarantee him a tidy backlog of votes but also will automatically give him first place on the bal-

McCormack should be extremely strong in Boston, where most Democratic primary fights usually are won and lost, and also will get powerful support in many parts of Greater Boston and elsewhere in the Commonwealth as a result of his famous uncle.

Both Ward and McCormack are extremely personable young men and excellent campaigners. Ward is something of old-fashioned, spellbinding orator. McCormack also can give a good account of himself on the stump.

Either of the two would be an asset to the Democratic State ticket. That is reflected by the fact that Ward received the nod of the pre-primary convention, while Foster Furcolo, after winning the en-dorsement for Governor, tried to persuade McCormack to take second place on the slate and become a candidate for Lieutenant Governor. McCormack, of course, McCormack would have no chance of winning over Ward if the two were running in a Republican primary. But in a Democratic race the odds may well favor McCormack, for many of the factors will be on his side.

The Republican philosophy is that the decision of a convention should be final and should not be challenged or appealed by a losing candidate. The Democratic theory is that a convention is merely an advisory body and that the party nominees are chosen by the voters in a primary, not by an assembly of 1500 delegates.

A Republican candidate who ran in the primary after being turned down at a convention would be committing political suicide. The Democrats expect it to happen and invariably reverse one or more decisions of their convention.

McCormack, of course, is not the first contender defeated at Worcester to announce that his name will be on the September ballot. Executive Councillor George A. Wells of Worcester and ex-Representative James A. Burke of Hyde Park th are bidding for the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor. State Treasurer

John F. Kennedy, overwhelmingly rebuffed by the convention, also is carrying his fight to the people. The only major candidates, who made losing bids at the Democratic pre-primary conclave in Worcester and are still on the sidelines, are Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough, who was beaten by Fur-colo, and Peabody, who was topped by ton District Court; M. John Ene-

McDonough will remain on the side-line. Peabody, however, undoubtedly will come off it to run either for Attorney General, Lieutenant Governor or District At-

Attempts have been made recently to induce McDonough to change his mind and move back into the gubernatorial clash.

Efforts even have been started to draft him. He has brushed them all off and is standing on his original announcement that he will be a candidate for reelection to the Governor's Council.

Byrne Apparently out of Governor's Race

It appears almost certain now that District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne will tham. not be a candidate for Governor and that the Democratic party in Massachusetts will see a struggle between Foster Furcolo and Thomas H. Buckley of Abington for its gubernatorial nomination.
Former Attorney General Francis E.

Kelley also may step into the field and make it a three-man race. If he does, he probably would improve Furcolo's prospects and lessen those of Buckley.

Persons close to Byrne disclose that he would have entered the battle for the Bay State Governorship if he had become convinced that President Eisenhower would not be a candidate for reelection.

Recent political happenings, including Ike's action in urging John S. Cooper of Kentucky to stand for election to the U. S. Senate, point clearly to the conclusion that the President is preparing to announce that he will be a candidate for a While Byrne's friends didn't elaborate on the District Attorney's disposition to make his own political plans continent upon those of President Eisenhower, the obvious implication is that he considers the Democratic candidate for Governor in Massachusetts would have a much better chance of winning election if the magic Eisenhower name were not on the ballot. That, of course, would be true-provided Governor Christian A. Herter was not chosen to run in his stead.

In any event, whatever the reasons and factors that influenced his decision, and factors that influenced his decision, and band, Stephen P. Connelly, and the pressure of his own duties may have a brother, Eugene A. McMahon been one of them, Byrne can now be eliminated as a potential gubernatorial contender. For all practical purposes matters have reached the stage where it would be virtually impossible for him to get into the gubernatorial contention and make an adequate campaign.

The tendency of many political onlookers will be to label Furcolo as virtually a certain winner of the gubernatorial nomination in the September primary, with Byrne out of the picture.

That, however, is not quite the fact. Furcolo will be a favorite over Buckley, but he will not be a sure thing. Buckley is a resourceful campaigner and has a good vote-getting name. He used to win elections regularly as State Auditor back in the 1930's. He was the "original Buckley" who set the stage and paved the way for the present Auditor Thomas J. Buck-

Buckley may put up a much stronger fight that is generally expected. The Furcolo camp could be making a fatal mistake if it were to underestimate his potential. He will do very well in southeastern Massachusetts, and he might roll up a substantial vote in the Greater Boston area.

Stevenson Now Seen Sure of Nomination

While most of the Democratic politicians who are against him refuse to man and Missouri's Senator Stuart Syadmit it, Adlai Stevenson has advanced his drive for the nomination for President to the point where it would appear to have the strength to make a real fight almost impossible for his opposition to of it. stop him.

Stevenson now seems reasonably certain of landing the nomination on either Stevenson comes with a rush in the early the second or third ballot.

Senator Estes Kefauver is clearly out of the race and probably will fade out of the contention after the opening ballot. Presidency, will probably be the No. 1

The turning point in the Democratic Presidential picture is the strength that is swinging behind Stevenson in the South. Unless he comes up with an attractive running mate in the North of the stamp of Senator John F. Kennedy, that southern support could be a liability in next autumn's campaign.

Chief Corcoran To be Tendered Testimonial

Fire Chief John E. Corcoran, who has announced his retirement from the department as of August 1, will be tendered a testimonial dinner at the Nor-mandie Ballroom in Norumbega Park, Friday, July 27, by the members of the fire department.

A veteran of 40 years' service, Chief Corcoran is leaving in accordance with a civil service rulpitched his campaign was that he was better physically equipped to meet the demands of the Governorship than any other candidate in the GOP race. ing requiring retirement at the age of 65 years. He will celebrate his 65th birthday on his retirement date.

Gluck and Bessie Kriensky for permission to erect and conduct an auto laundry on Boylston street, at Florence street, Chestnut Hill, was opposed by about fifty property owners of the area at the public hearing held before the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

The petition for the auto laundry was made under a recent amendment to the Zoning Laws which requires permission from the Board of Aldermen for such an enterprise.

Former Alderman Ernest G. Angevine, representing the petitioners, stated that the Smith Management Company desired to erect a masonry building, which would take care of 180 cars an hour at a cost of about $150,000. Mr. Angevine stated that the building would be com-pletely enclosed to minimize the noise and that there would be space fro 150 cars on the premises. The owners would also agree, he said, to provide a screen of trees and to any restriction placed by the Board to protect the area.

Attorney Mark Aborn, represented the objectors and asserted that the auto laundry would depreciate the value of nomes, would be dangerous to children, and would result in an increase in fire insurance rates. He presented a petition, signed by 92 residents, who were opposed to the request.

Jules Sherman of 142 Winchester street, Newton High-lands, pointed out that a similar petition is pending for an auto laundry in his area and contended that the granting of this permit would set a precedent for the granting of permits for such enterprises all over the city.

Political Overtones

Buckley was retired on a disability pension which is in the vicinity of $100 a week. Under the law a so-called disability pension is granted to a person who be-comes incapacitated for the job he is Technically, that means that Miles was disabled for service as a justice in the Roxbury court and that Buckley was incapacitated for service as the chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance.

Buckley's retirement occurred in January, 1953. In June, 1954, Buckley sought the nomination for Governor but was defeated at the pre-primary Democratic State convention in Worcester. As a matter of fact, it was his presence in the gubernatorial field that created a dead-lock for several ballots and his withdrawal that broke a logjam and set the stage for the endorsement of Robert F. Murphy of

Some time late in 1954 or early in 1955, Buckley assumed a job with the Massa-chusetts Turnpike Authority, which he now holds. He also is now campaigning for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for Governor. He is still drawing his pension.

While Governor Herter did not mention either Buckley or Miles by name, he obviously was referring to their cases in the statement he made, when he sent a special message to the State Legislature which would restrict the pension payments to persons who retire because of disability and then take positions in private industry.

Mr. Herter cannot be accused of playing politics because Miles is a Republican and Buckley a Democrat. The other persons who would be affected by the proposed change in the law are divided between both parties.

It is unlikely that the Governor can obtain the revisions of the pension laws he is seeking because a great many legisla-tors shy away from the issue for political Governor Herter, of course, is picking up a fight which Republican Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton has been waging for a long time. Graham endeavored both this year and last to secure the passage of a bill which would curb abuses under disability pension law. His measure earlier this year cleared the Republican Senate but met its death in the Democratic House.

While there undoubtedly is a great deal of merit and logic to the arguments advanced by both Governor Herter and Senator Graham, it is also a fact that the public officials who have administered the disability retirement law must also accept some of the responsibility for the abuses which now exist.

More than one man holding a highly paid job has been granted a disability pension in order to get him out of the way with a minimum of argument and furore so that his post might be given to

A person who applies for a disability pension also must be certified by a medical panel that he is in some manner incapacitated for the position and consequently entitled to the pension he is seeking.

This law, which has been under fire for some time, of course, was never intended to make it possible for a person to utilize a physical impairment to increase his income by the means of obtaining a disability pension and then finding a job in private industry.

It also is true that pension costs in many communities are now approaching staggering heights and are among the factors responsible for the mounting tax

Yet, it also is possible that some re-tired employees could be unfairly vic-timized by the suggested changes in the retirement laws.

Some policemen and firefighters have been retired because of legitimate disabilities which did prevent them from performing their duties. After getting their pensions, they then have found less taxing jobs in private industry.

In some cases, their combined pensions and wages from their new work added up to a greater total than their original salary while on the police or firefighting force.

Is that situation basically wrong?
Senator Graham argues that it is and that it should be consisted. The answer

That selection will be made as the campaign progresses, but the likelihood is that Boston will be on the list that is finally prepared. Governor Herter, Senator Saltonstall and Congressional Minority Leader Martin probably will see to that.

Brink's Case Keeping Byrne out of Contest If the Brink's bandits had not staged their history-making holdup in Boston 61/2 years ago, District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne probably would have been the Democratic nominee for Governor in Massachusetts this year.

Byrne waited until almost the last possible moment before making up his mind whether he would bid for the Governorship and finally decided that the demands of his own duties as Suffolk County prosecutor would not permit him to

He had been under heavy pressure both to enter the fight and to remain out of it. Political observers were in general | agreement that he could win the gubernatorial nomination if he made an all-out battle for it.

In the end, Byrne concluded that he could not justify in his own mind taking the time away from his job as District Attorney to make a State-wide campaign for nomination in the primary and then, presumably, for election in November. It was the unsolved Brink's case that influenced that decision.

Byrne intends to devote a great deal of time and attention to the preparation and Mrs. Mollie Goodman. of the case against the suspects in that case and to trying to unravel the mystery that has existed for more than six years.

This could have a profound effect upon Byrne's political future. It probably means that he will delay any gubernatorial bid at least until 1960, for in 1958 he will be standing for reelection as District At-

The Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, also announces that the July 2 revision of the Massachusetts Rules and Regu-lations governing blood translations governing blood trans-fusions will allow persons ex-posed to malaria but never ill with the disease, to donate after a two year waiting period. Service men who were in areas where malarial fever was com-mon, but took atabrine or some similar preventive, have been by-passed as donors for transfusions as it was possible for them to have in their blood for a period of time the organisms of malaria, harmless to the car-rier, but potentially dangerous to a sick person needing blood. As time has passed the condition has been studied and those who never had malarial fever and have been away from malarial areas two years without having any symptoms or taking preventive therapy, are now considered safe to give blood at hospitals or Red Cross Blood mobiles and the Blood Center

Despite all the statements made in behalf of Richard M. Nixon, don't rule out the possibility that Governor Christian A. Herter may still be nominated as President Eisenhower's Vice Presidential running mate.

Democratic attempts to wrest some of the elected positions held throughout the years by the Republican party here, will be very much in evidence this year. Announcement was made this week that Alderman Leo M. Cannon of 199 Bellevue street, Newton, and John P. Two other candidates have previously announced that they would seek the Democratic nominations to the two positions now held by Republicans. The other Democratic candidates are Lawrence E. Cook of 43 Walker street, Newtonville, and Lawrence C. Sullivan of 11 Bowers street, Newtonville.

The announcement by Cannon that he would contest for the House of Representatives comes somewhat as a surprise as it was believed he would again contest for the Senatorial place in the tenth district. Two years ago, Sena or Richard Lee barely nosed out Cannon in the contest that year, winning by slightly more than 200 votes. In a statement released this week, however, Alderman Cannon states::

"After my almost successful campaign of two years ago for the State Senate, losing to the present incumbent, Sen. Lee, by a small number of votes, I fully intended to run again for the same office. I announced the fact after the election and recount in 1954, and also many times since last December. Due

Accompanied by a team of biologists, he conducted under water experiments near Minot's Light, one-half mile off shore that should produce more efficient methods of planting baby lobsters, scientists believe.

Marine biologists for years have been trying to cut down on the high mortality rate of 'planted" baby lobsters. With Gorman's help last Saturday, they discovered that mackerel, pollock and cunner have been preying on the tiny lobsters planted just off Massachusetts' shores.

Much of the destruction has been caused by releasing the infant lobsters in the water in which they were cultivated, they learned. Called the "stew" by biologists, the water lures large fish in for a lobster feast. The experimenters left Scituate Town Pier Saturday morning with 2000 young shellfish, only a quarter inch long and technically known as "fry."

Half the fry were released near the surface from the De-partment of Natural Resources boat. Gorman, garbed in rub-ber suit, aqua lung, fins and helmet, watched nearby.
"They made a real banquet for the other fish," Gorman re-

However, when he took the remaining 1000 tiny lebsters to the very bottom of the sea in a 25-foot dive, he found the fry had a much greater chance of survival.

Findings of the experiment pointed to a newer method of releasing the lobsters more rapidly from the boats and plant-ing them near the bottom of the waters without the custom-ary "stew," scientists said at

Political Overtones

Stassen declared that surveys made at his direction have revealed that an Eisenhower-Herter ticket "will run at least 6 percent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket."

IF THAT IS CORRECT, IT WOULD MEAN THAT PRESIDENT EISEN-HOWER MIGHT BE REELECTED WITH HERTER AS HIS RUNNING MATE AND DEFEATED WITH NIXON OC-CUPYING SECOND PLACE ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Stassen is no novice in politics. He was a candidate for President eight years ago. He is a former Governor. He would not have made the statement he did concerning the relative strength of Herter and Nixon if he did not feel he could substan-

If Stassen's figures are proved to be accurate, the Republican party will have little alternative but to draft Herter, and the renomination of Nixon would be inviting disaster.

While Stassen didn't quite say so, the plain implication in the statement he gave to reporters during his press conference Monday was that Nixon is so unpopular that he might drag Ike down to defeat.

A number of Republican Congressmen responded by demanding that Stassen resign or be fired, but their attitude may undergo a change when they analyze and digest the import of what he said.

Political observers have expressed the opinion in recent weeks that President Eisenhower will face a much harder fight for reelection than GOP leaders are willing to admit and that one of the reasons for this is the hostility a large segment of the people hold toward Nixon.

Their observations have been brushed aside by the optimistic utterances of such Republican leaders as National Committee Chairman Leonard Hall that President Eisenhower is unbeatable and that the GOP can look forward to a spectacular sweep next November.

Now a member of the President's official family has said what political columnists and commentators have been saying before him. He, however his statements with the findings of scientific polls conducted to ascertain voter sentiment.

Maybe the Republican party can afford to brush off those findings. Per-haps GOP leaders such as Chairman Hall can afford to dismiss them with a wave of the hand. From this distance, however, it doesn't appear that they Startling and astonishing as it may seem, the only interpretation that can be placed on Stassen's statement is that there is a serious possibility that President Eisenhower will be defeated for reelection if Nixon is again his running mate.

Possibly the men around Ike will not even bother making a check to establish the accuracy of the poll returns quoted by Stassen. But it will be a very strange thing if they don't. One point to be remembered in weighing all the conflicting claims and statements that have been made since Stassen launched his stop-Nixon drive is that Stassen consulted President Eisenhower before he held his press conference and exploded his bombshell. Ike could have silenced him had he wished. He didn't. He allowed him to speak out. What is the significance of that? Does it mean that Stassen had the tacit approval of his boss? Or is the President so firm a believer in freedom of speech that he will not gag a member of his "Little Cabinet" even on so controversial a political matter as this? It could be that Nixon is merely being coddled and given the preferred treatment until the full impact of what Stassen had to say has had time to sink in on high-level Republicans, including the Vice President. It could be, too, that if further surveys support the findings of the Stassen polls, Nixon will be called in quietly and told that maybe he should stand aside for the greater good of the Republican party.

"I am deeply convinced," Stassen said, 'that... no honorably avoidable handicap should be placed on President Eisenhower in this election."

Republican delegates are likely to give serious consideration to that assertion. Stassen very clearly meant that Nixon is a "handicap" who can be "honorably

Motor Company Official Offers 21-Points To Check in Used Car Deal

This was pointed out here this ance should be smooth and week by S. P. Hutchins, Dodge quiet. used vehicle manager, who pre-shopping "price" rather than quality. He pointed out that no two used cars are exactly alike and purchasers who look for price alone too often find that first costs are not "the best as repairs and maintenance can sometimes be costly.

A new car dealer who sells cars has more facilities. trained personnel, and equipment to condition his used cars. When properly reconditioned, these cars give a better value to the purchaser. Hutchins said new car dealers generally keep only their better trade-ins for retail sale, preferring to sell outright to wholesalers those units not sultable for resale. These remaining "first choice" cars naturally represent the best value. Such dealers frequently offer customers a written warranty which aassures the customer of the dealer's confidence in the product he is offering.

Hutchins added that too few eustomers take a thorough demonstration ride when selecting their purchase. This is the buyer's opportunity to point out the obvious items which shiuld be corrected before delivery. To point up some of the things a customer should con-sider. Hutchins sets forth "21 Rules for Buying" as follows: 1. Oil pressuret should be in in the mid-range on the indicator and hold steady under ac celeration. 2. Tire wear: Check both the outside and inside outer casings for cuts and undue wear. Tread patterns should be even across the tire, indicating proper wheel alignment. 3. Upholstery and general appearance: interior should not be unduly soiled or torn. Seat covers may be an indication of the previous owner's care and pride but can also hide bad rips and stains.

4. Brakes: should have a firm pressure and be well up from the floor.

Fly ash, trapped in the industrial consumption of coal, is growing in commercial value daily, and one of its latest plications is as a principal in-gredient in the concrete poured for the $100 million Straits of Mackinac Bridge. Use of fly ash not only economizes on cement, but improves the quality and pumpability of fluid mortar.

More electric power is used by the Oak Ridge installation of the Atomic Energy Commission than by the highly industrialized city of Detroit, Mich. Power for Oak Ridge comes from the Kingston, Tenn., steam plant of TVA, which uses 4,300,000 tons of coal a year.

Martin Files Papers For Nomination

District Attorney Ephraim Martin of Middlesex County today filed papers at the Secre-tary of State's office at the State House for the Republican nomination for the office he now holds at the September pri-

Mr. Martin filed 2500 certifled signatures of Middlesex County citizens, many of whom are leading members of the Middlesex County Bar. In addition, many of the other signatures were those of prominent citizens of the district, who are interested in retaining him in office of District Attorney.

District Attorney Martin is widely known throughout Middlesex County, having been a major figure in the two previous administrations of the office he now seeks to retain. He was appointed as District Attorney by Governor Herter earlier year when former District Attorney George E. Thompson was named to the Superior Court bench.

"In seeking to retain this office," he said, "I would like to point out that I have served the people of Middlesex County for the past several years and have been a major figure in the administrations of the two previous district attorneys and contributed in a major way to the sound law enforcement that characterized those administrations."

Demonstration On Lacing Is Given

Newton Recreation Commissioner, C. Evan Johnson, intro-duced Mr. A. Vaughn, repre-sentative and demonstrator from Pyrotex Leather Co. re-cently at Edwin Childs Recreation Center. More than 40 women and men recreation leaders were given a demonstration on the use of lacing in playground work. Newton recreation leaders were joined by recreation leaders from the towns of Lincoln, Weston, Wayland, Ded-ham, Brookline, Arlington, Wellesley, Concord, and Belmont, and from Green Acres Camp, Newton Girl Scouts, Waltham Girl Scouts, Tower Ranch Day Camp, Noble - Greenough Day Camp, Newton Boys Club and the Fessenden Day Camp.

Mr. Vaughn had many samples to show the group. Some of these included place-mats, belts, bracelets, earings, rettes, ties, tie-clasps and coas-

Mr. Vaughn spoke to the group and at the same time demonstrated how to make various novelties. He urged that all recreation leaders teach the young so that when they are old they will have something to do. Girls Handcraft Supervisors Miss Gladys Forbush and Miss Marguerite A. Donnelly were also present.

District Supervisors in atten-dance included Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Mr. John Leary and Mr. Nicholas Tedescoe.

Beat The Heat This Summer

Lee Loumos, Newtonville appliance and television dealer, announces arrival of the new 1956 models of the Fedders room air-conditioners. And this year's new model requires no special wiring for operating efficiency.

Loumos said, in a recent interview, that "suffering through hot spells is old-fashioned these days. Heat waves mean nothing when you've got a modern Fed-ders room air-conditioner; it cools, filters, dehumidifies, ventilates and circulates crisp North Woods air that keeps you feeling peppy and ener-getic—even on the hottest, mug-iest days."

By simply pressing a button on the Weather Bureau, one of Fedders famous five quality features that give you more cooling power for your money, you can change to the exact cooling power for your money, you can change to the exact degree of comfort you want.

Howard Davis, one of the executives at Adams Distributors Company, Incorporated, wholesalers of Fedders Room Air Conditioners, reports, that Air Conditioners, reports that his house is cool as a North Wods Camp! Says Davis: "No more hot, muggy summers for my family with my new Fedders air conditioner.

By phoning Lee Loumos to-day, BIgelow 4.7240, you can have a Fedders installed without further suffering from heat exhaustion.
